
Describe the responsibilities of this job, required work experience, skills, or education

This is your opportunity to become a partner/owner of a thriving private practice in Psychology in North – Central Ontario, where you can contribute meaningfully to a great community and its members. A pre-existing client base, professional tools; client friendly office space, and positive professional reputation awaits you.

The desired partner is one who is registered or is eligible to become registered with the College of Psychologists of Ontario. You are also a team player who can communicate effectively and willing to lead in empathic fashion, modelling confidence and a desire to make a real difference in the lives of others.

You will have opportunities to be part of a practice that provides service excellence in the following areas of psychological practice:

Clinical	Vocational	Educational	Neuropsychology
EMDR	Custody/Access	Forensic	Rehabilitation
CBT/DBT Counselling		Psychoneuroimmunology

Experience

This job requires a Master's degree, Ph.D, or Registration (or eligibility for registration) as a Psychologist or Psychological Associate. Experience in the field is considered an asset, however, supervision and training are available.

Licensed – To practice Psychology in Ontario or eligibility for the same

Language - English
French an additional asset

Location - North Bay Ontario

Finances - This is an opportunity to purchase a portion of ownership in a thriving and well established practice. As an independent practitioner, you would bill clients directly through the practice

You will be able to partner in therapy and assessment service delivery as well as supervision of others, workshop development and presentation, and public speaking.

This is an opportunity to work with a team of professionals who are inspired, innovative, professional and genuinely happy to work with each other. People who decide to work with us tend to stay with us.

Within the greater community, there is a highly developed arts community; college and university resources (opportunities to teach); a strong and varied sports community; lakes and forests; family oriented neighbourhoods and activity offerings; numerous airline and other transportation services, and a broad range of health services. All this just 4 hours from Toronto or Ottawa.

If you are a skilled and ethical people oriented professional who loves the great outdoors and would like to develop a strong sense of community belonging, this could be a great opportunity.