This three-day virtual event (October 23-25, 2020) features renowned Canadian and international ADHD experts and includes sessions on ADHD comorbidities, virtual care, patient care during the COVID-19 pandemic and its implication on ADHD research, to name a few.

Attendees can network and learn at live symposiums, interactive breakout sessions, Q&As, panel discussions, poster and oral presentations on the latest scientific, clinical and practical information on ADHD diagnosis, assessment and treatment in children, adolescents and adults.

Preceding the conference, CADDRA brings together the top ADHD researchers at the 7th Annual ADHD Research Day on Oct 23, 2020. Research Day has become the largest gathering of ADHD researchers in Canada, drawing some of the best minds – and hearts – in ADHD research.
